Thoughtful Conversations for Families

Week 1

Thinking
Moves

What is P4C?

- P4C stands for Philosophy for Children, but it's simpler to do than the name makes it sound
- It's all about having thoughtful conversations with your children and exploring interesting ideas
- Schools all over the world use it. In the UK thousands of children and students do P4C every week

How does it work?

- We suggest something to stimulate an interesting conversation
- We suggest some talking points for you to discuss with your children
- You find out what they think and what other ideas they have
- You ask plenty of questions and try to hold back on your own views

Try about 30 minutes a week of P4C and we're sure you'll all have fun!

Talking points

- Why should we share?
- Does one good turn deserve another?
- When things run short, should you think of others' needs?

Can I be your friend?

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=aDycZH0CA4I>

Talking points

- What does friendship mean?
- Does what you say depend on where you say it?
- Is it OK to behave the same way, wherever you are?

What are Thinking Moves?

- A way to describe different types of thinking
- A way to help children improve the way they think
- A combination of verbal, written, visual and activity-led learning
- A new idea which is taking off quickly in schools around the world

How do they work?

- We suggest a Thinking Move of the week
- We give you ideas to explore and activities to do at home
- You pick the appropriate activities for your child's age
- You should feel free to make up your own activities too

Start with as little as 10 minutes a week and watch your child's thinking grow!
